

An Introduction to TBRI

WHAT IS TBRI®?

TBRI® is an attachment-based, trauma-informed intervention designed to meet the complex needs of vulnerable children or children from “hard places.” Each of these children have experienced abuse, neglect or trauma, making it difficult to trust others. TBRI® addresses the child’s physical needs, attachment needs, and tools to disarm fear-based behaviors. TBRI is based on years of attachment, sensory processing, and neuroscience research.

The TBRI® Overview Class (Next overview class in late 2018) is a glimpse into the method as a whole and an introduction to the principles.

THE THREE TBRI® PRINCIPLES ARE

- * Connecting Principles (attachment)
- * Empowering Principles (physical needs)
- * Correcting Principles (behavior)

TBRI® TRAINERS

Each year mental health professionals apply for scholarships to attend an intensive TBRI® Practitioner training program at the Karyn Purvis Institute for Child Development. In 2017, Becky Marquez was selected and completed the training and is one of few practitioners in the Treasure Valley.

LEARN REAL APPLICABLE TOOLS TO HELP HURT CHILDREN HEAL

Reserve your spot by calling 208-939-3865 or email admin@adoptanewbeginning.org

RESERVE YOUR SEAT TODAY

TBRI® Overview
Pick one date
Sept. 15 or Oct. 13
9 am - 4 pm

Pay per class
$30 per person or $50 per couples

includes materials and snacks, lunch on your own

Reserve your seat
admin@adoptanewbeginning.org
invoice will follow RSVP

[Becky Marquez, LPC,
MS, MFTI, TBRI Practitioner](#)